Stanford | Pre-Collegiate Summer Institutes

Suveer Saigal has completed the 2024 Stanford Pre-Collegiate Summer Institutes course in Strategic Marketing

from June 17th to June 28th, online with Stanford University. Suveer's admission into the Stanford Pre-Collegiate Summer Institutes and successful completion of the program demonstrate a high level of academic ability and intellectual curiosity.

Course Description:
The vibrancy of today's digital environment means there has never been a more exciting time to learn about business and the dynamic field of marketing. The most sought-after consumer marketers today have a combination of both analytical thinking and creativity. In this course, students learned business fundamentals, and explored an exciting array of marketing and communication channels that can be leveraged to build effective global marketing campaigns. Student teams worked collaboratively to prepare their strategic marketing plans and present their ideas, receiving real-time feedback from business professionals.

Student Evaluation (from Instructor):
This Strategic Marketing course covered a breadth of material, from foundational marketing concepts to a detailed analysis of multiple promotional channels. Suveer was one of my best students and he stood out in my class due to his high level of engagement. He displayed intellectual curiosity, regularly asking insightful questions, and he was not afraid to challenge the status quo. He also frequently volunteered to share his ideas and present his work to me and fellow students. For example, on the second day of class, he presented his 4P's for the brand Ferrari and created a persona called Wealthy William, referencing the brand's luxury image. He also presented his value proposition for the Oreo brand, and then offered his insightful analysis on the effectiveness of print ads. He consistently asked questions in class, which I appreciated. Overall, he really impressed me with his level of maturity and strategic thinking.

For his final project, Suveer worked with two partners to deliver an integrated, strategic marketing plan for the mature brand Listerine. I was thrilled with their brand choice, since it currently does not appeal to teens, and their final project objective was to reposition this brand, or to create a sub-brand that does indeed appeal to teenagers. The team did an excellent job on their presentation, showing a wonderful combination of visually impactful designs, and a very innovative new product offering called "Listee", a more portable and flavorful chewing gum that helps teens boost their confidence. I loved their innovative ideas! This was one of the best presentations overall, and Suveer did a great job presenting along with his teammates.

Overall, I really enjoyed having Suveer in my class. I'm excited to see what Suveer does in the future!

Bonnie Cegielski

Stanford Pre-Collegiate Studies
Academy Hall, 2nd Floor, 8851, 415 Broadway, Redwood City, CA 94063 T: 650.721.9325 E: precollegiate@stanford.edu

Stanford | Pre-Collegiate International Institutes

Stanford Pre-Collegiate Studies
Academy Hall, 2nd Floor, 8851, 415 Broadway, Redwood City, CA 94063 T: 650.721.9325 E: precollegiate@stanford.edu